

National Institutes of Health
National Library of Medicine
Bethesda, Maryland 20894

Historical Audiovisuals Duplication

Films and videos from the National Library of Medicine's manuscripts collections may be duplicated if they are determined to be in the public domain, or if written permission from the copyright holder has been received by the History of Medicine division.

Before any film or video can be copied, the User Agreement and the Restriction Notice must be completed and returned to us, one set of forms for each film. The forms cannot be faxed to us, as faxed signatures are not necessarily legal and binding.

The laboratories approved by us to make film to film or film to video reproductions of our vintage footage are:

Colorlab, 5708 Arundel Ave., Rockville, MD 20852
Voice: (301) 770-2128 Fax: (301) 816-0798 Email: info@colorlab.com
Web address: <http://www.colorlab.com>

Henninger Media Services at 2601-A Wilson Blvd., Arlington, Virginia 22201
(703-243-3444)

KLM Video (The Interface Group), 1233 20th St., NW, Washington, DC
20036 (202-457-5833).

Arrangements are in place at each of the companies for hand-carrying our films. Courier costs are charged to the patron. When you have made financial arrangements with the laboratory, please notify us so we can arrange for pickup. The film company will tell you the cost of conversion and the length of time it will take to complete the job.

If you have questions, please contact:

John P. Rees
Associate Curator, Modern Manuscripts
History of Medicine Division
National Library of Medicine
301-496-8953
john\_rees@nlm.nih.gov